

Fractal, room divider

Andrea Mancuso

EDITION
Delvis (Un)Limited

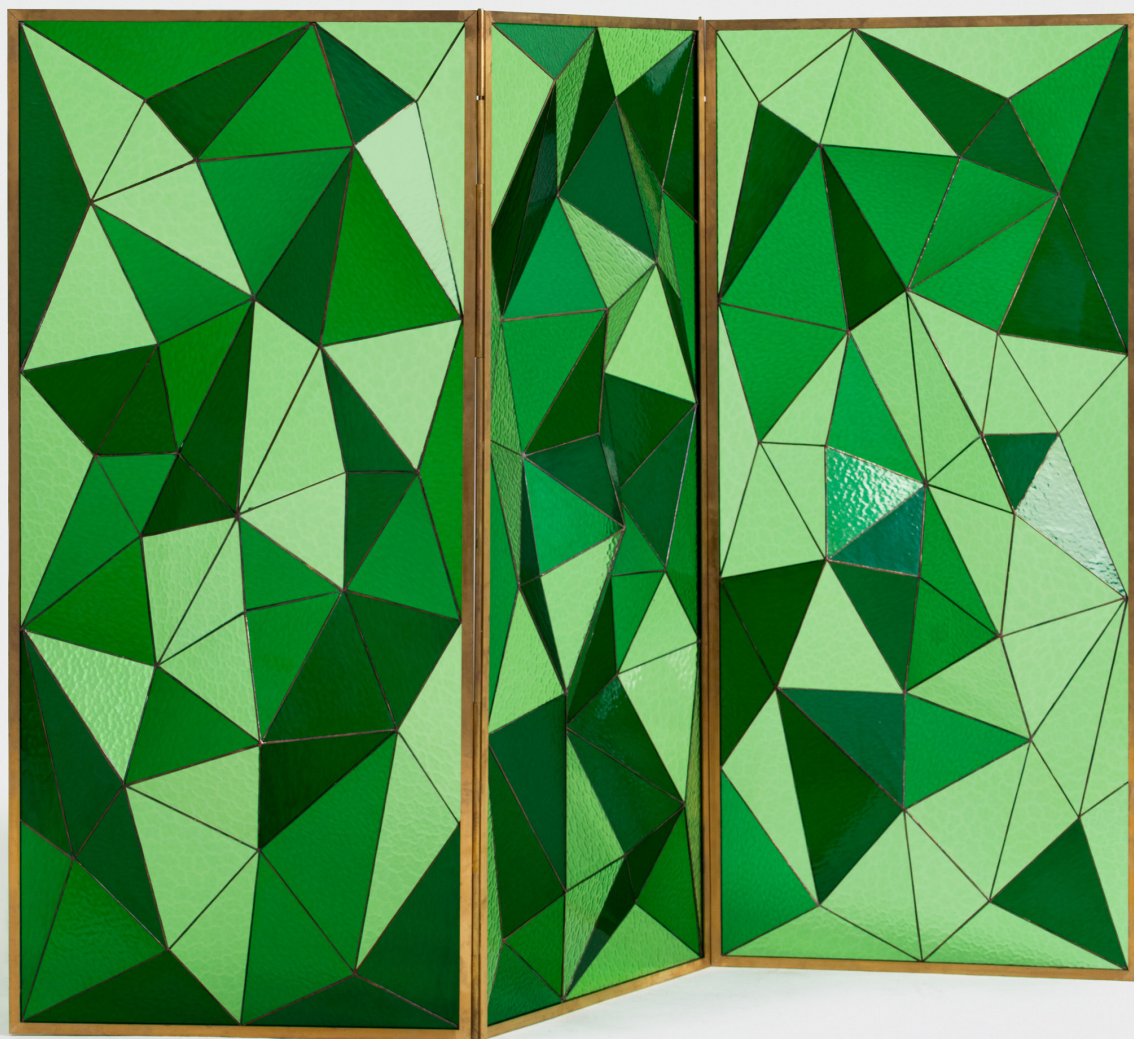

The resulting piece is a sculptural object composed of triangular panes of colored glass arranged in a gradient that shifts from bright emerald green to pale sage with each pane carefully welded together with precious brass seams.

DETAILS

STRUCTURE:	Brass
FINISHES:	Stained colored glass
SIZE:	L: 239 W: 16 H: 174 cm L: 94.1" x W: 6.3" x H: 68.5"
NET WEIGHT:	90 kg, 198.4 lb
YEAR:	2022
PRICE:	Upon request

QUOTE:

"Our objective was to interpret this sentiment with contemporary aesthetic, influenced by iPhone photography, image filters, photo editing apps and the rise of NFTs".
— Andrea Mancuso

Exhibition:

Falling Into Life

The event explores the relationship between nature, art, and design, bringing projects to life that integrate impressive craftsmanship with innovative materials. The exhibition invites the audience to experience a unique sensory journey through the sinuous, sculptural forms of the pieces, telling a dialogue between the past, present, and future of design, celebrating the uniqueness and creativity of each project.

BIO DESIGNER:

The work Andrea Mancuso strikes a fine balance between the fantastical and the everyday. Originally from Rome, Mancuso spent his early career in London, a creatively formative period that steered Mancuso's practice towards the experimental and imaginary. He has since nurtured a rigorously research-based approach, deeply indebted to the persuasive power of storytelling. In 2011 he went on to found his own firm, Analogia Project, which debuted at the invitation of Wil I Alsop during London Design Week. He has since lent his unique perspective to brands and institutions like Hermes, Fendi, Perrier-Jouët, Nilufar Gallery, Bulgari, Lema, Slamp and Wallpaper*, creating furniture, installations and exhibitions that evoke narratives in a way that transcends culture, time and space. His projects have been published worldwide and exhibited in major international fairs. Since 2017 he has taught the Master of Interior Design course at NABA Academy in Milan.